OLU SOFTWARE SOLUTIONS

FOR YOUR BUSINESS

We create high quality, bespoke software systems in both database and web applications. Our custom software applications can include any aspect of your business from sales, financial, supply chain, data sharing and booking systems, to manufacturing and electronic data interchange applications.

We can design software or websites that integrate with your existing applications, ensuring compatibility whilst providing a seamless link to the customer or user, increasing efficiency and reducing costs. Every business is unique, so why isn't your software?. At OLU we provide tailored solutions which fit the way you work and pull together all of existing data and applications. We pride ourselves on our progressive and innovative approach to solving complex and inflexible business issues.

SOFTWARE DEVELOPMENT

We Deliver High Quality And Cost Effective Business Solutions

Software programming is our specialist area of expertise. We create standard software, such as office management and financial package solutions, to aid the general running of your business. All of these programmes have total flexibility enabling them to be further tailored to the specifics of your company. To help implement other computer solutions we provide a bespoke service, where we create customised packages. We build our systems around your business so that they work for you.

SERVICE & SUPPORT

We employ only friendly and helpful staff whose main aim is to provide you with a full and agreeable service. Should you encounter any difficulties or require assistance in the running of your new business system, then we are on call to solve the problem and restore your system. This may simply involve step by step guidance via a telephone call or a consultation from a technician may be needed, however the outcome will always be the same: an efficient, smoothly running computer package.

“We Don't Just Develop Software Solutions, We Support Them Throughout Their Lifecycle.”

As your business changes then your software can also be changed to develop and grow with you. Our services can range from just writing you a software package, to help supply and advice on hardware IT requirements of your company, to running all your IT needs. This way you have a one point stop of all your IT requirements.

HARDWARE

Business IT Support Solutions

It is unrealistic to think that any element of technology is immune from breakdown. We provide proactive monitoring of your systems, scheduled upkeep of your backup and virus protection systems, preventative maintenance and fast, effective Support should something go awry.

You can be confident in the knowledge that we can provide a single source for your IT technology and Support needs. It may be as involved as the implementation of a completely new infrastructure or a basic user's question. We are comfortable acting as a single point of accountability.

If you need a full computer update then we can help you decide which combination of hardware would best suit your requirements. Any new system would be fully installed by one of our experienced technicians. Alternatively any repairs of old hardware can be undertaken by us and completed to a high standard.
